

Telemid Visit - Second Opinion

Introduction:

The goal of the Second Opinion is to promote good health, improve doctor/patient communication and empower viewers to take charge of their own healthcare, and in turn, help them navigate the medical system for better health outcomes. We aim to provide you with a seamless and hassle-free healthcare experience from the comfort of your home.

Reason behind the second the opinion:

People make mistakes every day, and doctors are not immune to this fact. What's more, some doctors are more conservative while others tend to be more aggressive. So, their findings and recommendations can vary dramatically. For this reason, more and more patients are getting second opinions after a diagnosis. Whether your doctor recommends surgery, makes a cancer diagnosis or identifies a rare disease, there are many benefits to getting a second opinion. These benefits include everything from the peace of mind and confirmation to a new diagnosis or a different treatment plan. Even if your second opinion just confirms what you already know, it can still be beneficial. Afterward, you will know that you have done everything you can to ensure that you have the correct diagnosis and a treatment plan that feels right to you. A second opinion also can offer insight into additional treatment options that the first doctor may not have mentioned. As a result, you become more informed about what is available to you and can make an educated decision about your healthcare and your treatment plan.

Some Reasons why you should get a second opinion:

There are times when getting a second opinion may be the best course of action. What's more, if the two doctors you see vastly disagree, then it might be wise to get a third opinion. Keep in mind, that the second opinion is not necessarily the right opinion. The key is to keep digging until the diagnosis and treatment make sense to you

- Get a second opinion if you have undergone treatment but your symptoms continue.
- Get a second opinion if you are diagnosed with a rare disease
- Get a second opinion if the recommended treatment is risky, involves surgery, is invasive or has lifelong consequences.
- Get a second opinion if you are diagnosed with cancer.
- Get a second opinion if your gut reaction tells you something is off.

One thing you need to Remember, you are not being difficult nor are you in denial about your situation when you ask for a second opinion. You are being smart and empowered. You should always take an active part in your health care and getting a second opinion is an important part of that process. What's more, most doctors expect and encourage second opinions. So, be upfront with your physician about your desire to gather more information.

Reset Filters:

- It helps to reset the search criteria so that one will be able to start searching again.

Appointment booking procedure:

- After selecting the physician with whom one would like to consult, now all one needs to do is to book an appointment with the particular procedure.

This screenshot is identical to the previous one, showing the search results for Dr. Ramakrishna. In this version, the 'Book Appointment' button next to the doctor's profile is circled in orange, indicating the next step in the appointment booking procedure.

- Click on Book Appointment button it will redirect you to booking slot.
